

Table of Contents

VLADIMIR TISMANEANU

Introduction	1
--------------------	---

Part One

PICKING UP THE PIECES: 1968 BETWEEN MEMORY AND THEORY

MARTIN PALOUŠ

Revolutions and Revolutionaries, Lessons of the Years of Crises (Three Czech Encounters with Freedom)	21
--	----

IRENA GRUDZINSKA GROSS

1968 in Poland: Spoiled Children, Marxists, and Jews	43
--	----

DICK HOWARD

In Search of a New Left	55
-------------------------------	----

JEFFREY C. ISAAC

Rethinking the Political Scientifically: Brief Reflections on 1968 by a Child of the Seventies	65
---	----

JAN-WERNER MÜLLER

What Did They Think They Were Doing? The Political Thought of (the West European) 1968 Revisited	73
---	----

AURELIAN CRAIUTU

Thinking Politically: Raymond Aron and the Revolution of 1968 in France	103
--	-----

KAROL EDWARD SOŁTAN
The Divided Spirit of the Sixties	131

Part Two

LESSONS AND LEGACIES OF 1968

AGNES HELLER
The Year 1968 and Its Results: An East European Perspective ..	157
JÍŘI PEHE
The Prague Spring 1968: Post-Communist Reflections	167
BRADLEY ABRAMS
From Revisionism to Dissent: The Creation of Post-Marxism in Central Europe after 1968	179
TEREZA-BRÎNDUȘA PALADE
Post-Marxist Mentality and the Intellectual Challenge to Ideology after 1968	197
NICK MILLER
Yugoslavia's 1968: The Great Surrender	227
CRISTIAN VASILE
1968 Romania: Intellectuals and the Failure of Reform	241

Part Three

1968 IN PIECES: CASE STUDIES OF TRANSFORMATION

VLADIMIR TISMANEANU and BOGDAN IACOB
Betrayed Promises: Nicolae Ceaușescu, the Romanian Communist Party, and the Crisis of 1968	257
MARK KRAMER
The Kremlin, the Prague Spring, and the Brezhnev Doctrine ...	285
JEFFREY HERF
1968 and the Terrorist Aftermath in West Germany	371

VICTOR ZASLAVSKY
The Prague Spring: Resistance and Surrender of the PCI	387
CĂTĂLIN AVRAMESCU
“Don’t Push Us, Comrade!”—De Gaulle in Bucharest	407
CHARLES S. MAIER
Conclusion: 1968—Did It Matter?	413
Contributors	435
Index	441