

Fiscal Policy without a State in EMU?

Contents

List of Figures and Tables	x
Acknowledgements	xii
Introduction	xiv
Part I Germany, the Stability and Growth Pact and Policy Coordination on the Political and Economic Agenda in Europe	1
1 The Europeanisation of Fiscal Policy Coordination	3
1.1 Europeanisation and European economic integration	3
Europeanisation and European integration	5
Europeanisation as a two-way process	6
Europeanisation and European institutionalism	8
The timing element of Europeanisation	9
Europeanisation and national adjustments in fiscal policy coordination	11
1.2 EMU and fiscal policy coordination	12
Institutionalising fiscal policy coordination in EMU	12
Fiscal policy coordination in practice	15
1.3 Outline of the book	17
Part II Fiscal Policy Coordination under the Stability and Growth Pact in Economic and Monetary Union	21
2 The Institutional System of Fiscal Policy Coordination	23
2.1 Theory of institutional fiscal policy coordination	23
Rationales for fiscal policy coordination in EMU	23
Institutional design, adjustments and risks in theory	26
2.2 Formal rules of fiscal policy coordination	30
Forms of economic policy coordination	30
Binding rules of fiscal policy coordination	33
2.3 Institutional procedures in fiscal policy coordination	37
Institutional system of fiscal policy coordination	37
Broad economic policy guidelines	38
Stability and convergence programmes	40
Excessive deficit procedure	41

2.4	Adaptation pressures of the Stability Pact in EMU	43
	Implementing the institutional system of fiscal policy coordination	43
	Criticism of fiscal policy coordination under the Stability Pact	46
	Institutional fiscal policy coordination still in progress in EMU	52
3	The German Dynamics of Uploading the Stability Pact	53
3.1	German fiscal challenges in the post-reunification era	53
	German reunification and challenges in national adjustments	53
	Public debt before and after German reunification	55
	Budgetary deficit in transition	57
	Public finances in the federal government and the Bundesländer	59
3.2	Stabilisation and/or room for national fiscal flexibility	61
	The Bundesbank and monetary discipline	61
	The federal government and fiscal discipline	67
	The Bundesländer and trade unions and room for national flexibility	71
3.3	Designing and securing national fiscal stability in EMU	74
	The need for national adjustments and national economic coordination	74
	Designing sustainable public finances in 1996	76
	European guidelines for German national economic reforms I	78
	Improving growth before the parliamentary elections of 1998	79
3.4	Securing German national "fits" 1995–1997	80
	Fiscal discipline for the EMU era on the German national agenda	80
	National economic coordination and increasing adaptation "misfits"	83
4	Downloading the Stability Pact in Germany	86
4.1	Political changes and refocusing fiscal policy	86
	A new government, the same challenges	86
	Policy actions and refocusing fiscal policy in 1999	87
	European guidelines for German national economic reforms II	91
4.2	Policy adjustments and the financial reality	94
	Stabilising public finances at speed in 2000	94
	Optimistic European peer pressure on the German economy	97
	Introducing future-oriented adjustments in 2001	98
	Strengthening national fiscal policy coordination I	100

	Facing European economic monitoring I	101
	Strengthening national fiscal policy coordination II	103
4.3	Unforeseen changes in the German economic environment	105
	Changes in the trends in the German economic environment	105
	Early challenges in the common monetary policy	107
	Deteriorating budgetary policy in Germany	111
	A widening gap in the public finances	114
	Sluggish trends in labour policy and employment	118
4.4	Dealing with German national “misfits” 1998–2002	120
	Refocusing German national fiscal policy in EMU	120
	Declining national economy and striking financial reality	122
	Increasing economic monitoring and national fiscal flexibility	124
5	Reuploading Fiscal Policy Coordination in EMU	127
5.1	Adjusting to European economic authority and monitoring	127
	German fiscal policy after the parliamentary elections of 2002	127
	Facing European economic monitoring II	131
	Strengthening national fiscal policy coordination III	133
	European guidelines for German national economic reforms III	134
5.2	“Frozen” and “softened” European fiscal policy coordination	135
	Tackling structural problems radically through Agenda 2010 in 2003	135
	Facing European economic monitoring III	137
	European guidelines for German national economic reforms IV	140
	Institutional power struggle over European economic monitoring	142
	Furthering structural reforms for a better national outlook in 2004	143
	Preparing for the “softening” of the European fiscal rules	146
	The rules were reformed in March 2005, long live the new rules!	149
5.3	Economic developments and room for national fiscal flexibility	152
	Recovering exports improving the German economic environment	152
	Common monetary policy and (in)stability	153
	German budgetary policy on the edge	157
	Challenging trends in the public finances	159

Improvements in the economy of the Bundesländer	161
Stagnation on the national labour market	162
5.4 Reuploading German national “fits” 2003–2005	164
National economic realities in reuploading	164
Much at stake in Germany as the engine of the whole E(M)U economy	166
Part III Germany, the Stability and Growth Pact and Policy Coordination: Institutional Capacity for Effective Fiscal Policy Coordination in EMU	169
6 Reviewing the Institutional System of Fiscal Policy Coordination	171
6.1 Institutional system of the Stability and Growth Pact	171
Methodology of the review of the Stability Pact	171
Institutional system of the Stability Pact	173
Institutional duties in economic monitoring and implementation	178
Reinterpreting the fiscal rules of the Stability Pact	182
6.2 National adjustments, political commitments and economic coordination	189
National adjustments and political commitments	189
National stability programmes in fiscal policy coordination	194
National economic coordination under the Stability Pact	197
6.3 Fiscal policy coordination under the coming fiscal challenges in Europe	201
The European Central Bank and European policy mix	201
Population ageing and sustainable public finances in EMU	204
7 Challenging the Existing Understanding of Europeanisation in the Study of Germany, the Stability and Growth Pact and Policy Coordination	209
7.1 Uploading, downloading and reuploading of Europeanisation	209
Securing German adaptation “fits” in fiscal policy coordination	209
Three dimensions of Europeanisation in fiscal policy coordination	212
The timing element in the Europeanisation of fiscal policy coordination	215
Which Europeanisation matters in fiscal policy coordination?	219

7.2 Fiscal policy without a state in EMU?	222
National fiscal authority in practice in EMU	222
Supranational institutions in fiscal policy coordination	225
Reuploading as the first signal of too fast integration in fiscal policy?	230
How to get back to a win-win situation under the Stability Pact in EMU?	233
Appendix	235
Notes	236
Bibliography	262
Index	289