

“CURRENT TRENDS IN THE RUSSIAN FINANCIAL SYSTEM”

Edited by Morten Balling

*Chapters by:
Stephan Barisitz
Zeljko Bogetic
Zuzana Fungačova and Laura Solanko
Peter Havlik
Valery Invushin, Vladimir V. Osakovsky
and Debora Revoltella
Alexander Lehmann
Ewald Nowotny
Cyril Pineau-Valencienne
Pekka Sutela*

A joint publication with the Austrian Society for Bank Research

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Table of Contents	3
1. Introduction	7
2. Opening Remarks	13
3. Russian Finance: Drag or Booster for Future Growth?	23
1. References	39
4. Russian Banking in Recent Years: Gaining Depth in a Fragile Environment	43
1. Abstract	43
2. Introduction	44
3. Macroeconomic and structural background	45
4. Banking development and reforms	48
5. Assessment and conclusions	77
6. References	83
5. Banks and financial reform: their role in sustaining Russia's growth	89
1. Abstract	89
2. Introduction	90
3. Russia's growth spurt	92
4. Financial reform and growth	94
5. The political economy of further financial reform	102
6. Conclusions	104
7. References	106
6. Russian financial institutions and the oil and gas sector: Funding and recycling	109
1. Introduction	109
2. An environment conducive to external borrowing in an investment boom climate	111
3. The capital needs are met by a double movement of external borrowing of banks and corporate companies	114
4. A long history of cooperation between the foreign banking community and the Russian oil and gas industry	118
5. The new catalysts in the financing of major projects are the oil and gas international "majors" or "sponsors"	119
6. The so-called Raw Materials banks did not play a major role as "related parties" in the financing of their own groups.	122
7. The challenges to overcome	122

8. Conclusions	124
7. Risk-taking by Russian banks: Do location, ownership and size matter?	129
1. Abstract	129
2. Introduction	130
3. The banking industry in Russia	132
4. Data and the key variables	134
5. Measuring risk - bank insolvency_risk (z-score)	138
6. Conclusion	146
7. References	147
8. Russia's Financial Crisis: Causes, Consequences and Prospects	151
1. Resume	151
2. Context and Causes	152
3. Consequences	157
4. Policy Response	165
5. Policy challenges going forward	166
6. Outlook for 2009	168
9. The Russian Economy in the Global Turmoil	173
1. Introduction	173
2. Russian economy and the ambivalent role of energy	175
3. Return of double-digit inflation	177
4. Diversification with Industrial Policy tools	178
5. Effects of the global turmoil	181
6. References:	185
10. The Russian banking sector: what to expect?	189
1. The past: Russian economic renaissance	189
2. The crisis: politics and economics join forces	196
3. Longer term prospects are brighter	204
SUERF – Société Universitaire Européenne de Recherches Financières	206
SUERF STUDIES	207