

Fertility and Public Policy

How to Reverse the Trend of Declining Birth Rates

edited by Noriyuki Takayama and Martin Werding

 Seminar Series

The MIT Press
Cambridge, MA
London, UK

Contents

Series Foreword vii

Acknowledgments ix

Contributors xi

- 1 Fertility and Public Policy: An Introduction 1
Noriyuki Takayama and Martin Werding
- 2 The Economics of the Family and Its Policy Implications: Why Should We Care about Fertility Outcomes? 15
Martin Werding
- 3 Low Fertility and Population Aging in Germany and Japan: Prospects and Policies 51
Warren Sanderson
- 4 Effects of Public Policies and the Labor Market on the Fertility of Japanese Women: Analyses of Municipal Data 81
Seiritsu Ogura and Tamotsu Kadoda
- 5 On the Persistence of Low Birthrates in Japan 111
Reiko Aoki and Yoko Konishi
- 6 An Evaluation of a Pronatal Subsidy in Korea: A Quasi-experimental Approach 137
Yoonyoung Cho
- 7 Fertility Transition and Its Socioeconomic Impacts in China 159
Xizhe Peng

- 8 Fertility and Social Policy 183
Jonathan Bradshaw and Shalhevet Attar-Schwartz
- 9 Family Policies and Fertility in Sweden 203
Gunnar Andersson
- 10 Does Fertility Respond to Work and Family-life Reconciliation Policies in France? 219
Olivier Thévenon
- 11 Given That People Live Longer, Why Should We Worry That Fewer Are Born? 261
Alessandro Cigno
- Index 273