

Public Service Commission of Canada

Commission de la fonction publique du Canada

www.dandelon.com

To what extent do casuals become employed under the Public Service Employment Act?

A statistical study by the Public Service
Commission of Canada

October 2007

C 254475

Canada

Table of Contents

Highlights	4
Introduction	5
The Public Service Commission's role in staffing.	5
Background	7
Methodology	10
Study findings	10
Forty-one percent of casual employment spells lead to employment under the PSEA	10
The Administrative and Foreign Service and the Scientific and Professional categories stand out	12
Higher prevalence in medium and small organizations	17
Higher incidence in the National Capital Region	21
Some difference by gender	21
Differences exist between official language groups	22
A relatively rapid transition	22
More than half of the transitions occur without a break in service	24
Majority of transitions do not involve a change of classification or department/agency	24
Concluding remarks	26
Study team	26

Appendices

Appendix 1: Methodology and definitions.....	27
Appendix 2: Glossary.....	30
Appendix 3: Department/agency size	31
Appendix 4: Casual appointment spells and subsequent transitions – 1995-1996 through 2004-2005 – Departments/agencies	34
Appendix 5: Casual appointment spells and subsequent transitions – 1995-1996 through 2004-2005 – Groups.....	38
Appendix 6: Categories and professional groups.....	42

List of figures

Figure 1: Specified-period and casual appointments to the public service – fiscal years 1995-1996 through 2004-2005.....	8
Figure 2: Change in composition of employment categories of casual appointments – fiscal years 1995-1996 through 2004-2005	9
Figure 3: Casual recruitment – National Capital Region (NCR) and regions outside the NCR – fiscal years 1995-1996 through 2004-2005.....	9
Figure 4: Proportion of casual employment spells followed by subsequent appointment under the PSEA – fiscal years 1995-1996 through 2004-2005.....	11
Figure 5: Casual employment spells and subsequent appointment under the PSEA – fiscal years 1995-1996 through 2004-2005.....	11
Figure 6: Casual employment spells and subsequent appointment under the PSEA – employment categories – fiscal years 1995-1996 through 2004-2005.....	12
Figure 7: Casual employment spells and subsequent appointment under the PSEA by size of organization – fiscal years 1995-1996 through 2004-2005.....	17

Appendices

Appendix 1: Methodology and definitions.....	27
Appendix 2: Glossary.....	30
Appendix 3: Department/agency size	31
Appendix 4: Casual appointment spells and subsequent transitions – 1995-1996 through 2004-2005 – Departments/agencies	34
Appendix 5: Casual appointment spells and subsequent transitions – 1995-1996 through 2004-2005 – Groups	38
Appendix 6: Categories and professional groups.....	42