

Frank Linde, Wolfgang G. Stock

Information Markets

A Strategic Guideline
for the I-Commerce

De Gruyter Saur

Contents

Preface

xiii

Part A

Propedeutics of Dealing with the Information Market 1

1	History of Exploring the Information Market	3
1.1	Knowledge Workers in the Knowledge Economy	3
1.2	Information Economy as Fourth Sector	7
1.3	“Information Superhighways”	10
1.4	“New Economy”	13
1.5	Digital Information Services	14
1.6	M-Commerce	17
1.7	Information Market–Today: Digital Online Information and Network Economy	17
1.8	Conclusion	18
1.9	Bibliography	19
2	Information as Economic Good	23
2.1	Economic Goods	23
2.2	Information Goods	24
2.3	Digital Information on the Information Market	28
2.4	The Economic Significance of the Information Market	30
2.5	Conclusion	31
2.6	Bibliography	31
3	Economic Particularities of Information Goods	33
3.1	Market Failure for Information Goods	33
3.2	First-Copy-Cost Effect	35
3.3	Information Asymmetries	38
3.4	Network Effects for Information Goods	51
3.5	Information as Public Good	61
3.6	Interdependence of Economic Particularities	66
3.7	Conclusion	67
3.8	Bibliography	69

Part B
Information Society	75
4 Information Sociology	77
4.1 “Information Society” and “Knowledge Society”	77
4.2 Information and Knowledge Infrastructure	83
4.3 The Informational City and “Glocality”	87
4.4 The Digital Divide	93
4.5 Deviant Information Behavior	96
4.6 Information Subcultures: Hackers, Crackers, Crashers	102
4.7 Dark Web: Information Behavior of Terrorist Groups	103
4.8 Political Science	105
4.9 Conclusion	109
4.10 Bibliography	111
5 Information Law	119
5.1 Legal Protection of Information	119
5.2 Technical Information: Patents and Utility Models	120
5.3 Aesthetic-Commercial Information: Registered Design	130
5.4 Advertising Information: Trademark Law	131
5.5 Works: Copyright Law	135
5.6 Creative Commons and Copyleft	140
5.7 Legal Protection of Software	141
5.8 Person-Related Information: Data Protection Law	143
5.9 Content on the Internet: Telemedia Law	145
5.10 Adjacent Fields of Law	147
5.11 Information Criminal Law	149
5.12 International Information Law?	151
5.13 Conclusion	151
5.14 Bibliography	153
6 Information Ethics	159
6.1 Ethics of a New Culture	159
6.2 Professional Behavior	163
6.3 Free Access to Knowledge	163
6.4 Privacy	166
6.5 Intellectual Property	170
6.6 Conclusion	176
6.7 Bibliography	177

Part C
Digital Information Goods		181
7 Business, Market and Press Information		183
7.1 Digital Information Products for and about Business and the Press		184
7.2 Clients on the Market for Business, Market and Press Information		185
7.3 Business Information		185
7.4 Company Dossiers		185
7.5 Credit Information		188
7.6 Product Information		189
7.7 Addresses		191
7.8 Market Data		192
7.9 Structural, Market and Industry Data		192
7.10 Stock Market Information		196
7.11 Time Series		196
7.12 News		201
7.13 Media Observation: Press Reviews and Media Resonance Analyses		203
7.14 Providers' Pricing Strategies		203
7.15 Conclusion		204
7.16 Bibliography		205
8 Legal Information		207
8.1 Legal Documents and Their Demanders		207
8.2 Primary Legal Information I: Legal Norms		208
8.3 Primary Legal Information II: Cases / Decisions		210
8.4 Secondary Legal Information: Expert Annotations and Specialist Literature		211
8.5 Tertiary Legal Information: Citations and Other References		212
8.6 Providers' Pricing Models		214
8.7 Conclusion		215
8.8 Bibliography		216
9 STM Information		219
9.1 Information in Science, Technology and Medicine		219
9.2 The Production Process of STM Information		224
9.3 Digital and Print Products		226
9.4 Journal Impact Factor		230
9.5 STM eBooks		232
9.6 Patents and Utility Models		234
9.7 Digital Object Identifiers (DOI)		235

9.8	Information Services with Bibliographic References to STM Publications	236
9.9	STM Facts	240
9.10	The STM Market: Publishers, Libraries and Scientists	242
9.11	Conclusion	246
9.12	Bibliography	247
10	Search Tools and Content Aggregators	251
10.1	Typology of Search Tools and Content Aggregators	251
10.2	Online Search Engines	252
10.3	Content Aggregators (Hosts)	254
10.4	Conclusion	257
10.5	Bibliography	257
11	Web 2.0 Services	259
11.1	Social Software	259
11.2	File-Sharing Services	262
11.3	Social Bookmarking	267
11.4	Collaborative Construction of a Knowledge Base	270
11.5	Social Networks	277
11.6	Conclusion	280
11.7	Bibliography	281
12	Online Music and Internet TV	287
12.1	Commercial Music Distribution on the World Wide Web	287
12.2	Internet Television	289
12.3	Conclusion	291
12.4	Bibliography	292
13	Digital Games	295
13.1	Console and PC Games	295
13.2	Digital Versions of “Traditional” Games	297
13.3	Gambling	298
13.4	Video Games	299
13.5	Massively Multiplayer Online Role Playing Games (MMORPGs)	300
13.6	Social Games	305
13.7	Games with a Purpose	306
13.8	Conclusion	307
13.9	Bibliography	308
14	Software	311
14.1	The Software Market	311
14.2	Software Development	313
14.3	Globalization and “Offshoring”	320

14.4	Conclusion	323
14.5	Bibliography	324
15	Online Advertising	327
15.1	Forms of Advertising on the Internet	327
15.2	Banner Advertising	330
15.3	Target-Group Specific Online Advertising	332
15.4	Advertising in Digital Games	332
15.5	E-Mail Advertising	334
15.6	Context-Specific Advertising	335
15.7	Viral Marketing	339
15.8	Conclusion	341
15.9	Bibliography	342

Part D

Competitive Strategies of Information Providers 345

16	Strategic Framework	347
16.1	Porter's Model of Industry Structure Analysis	347
16.2	Nalebuff's and Brandenburger's Value Net	349
16.3	The Value Net's Elements	350
16.4	Value Nets for Information Goods	353
16.5	Business and Business Field Strategies	354
16.6	Competitive Advantages	356
16.7	Strategic Variables for Designing Value Nets	356
16.8	Conclusion	358
16.9	Bibliography	359
17	Timing of Market Entry	361
17.1	Innovators and Imitators	361
17.2	Advantages and Disadvantages for First Movers	362
17.3	First-Mover Advantages on Information Markets	365
17.4	Empirical Proofs for First-Mover Advantages	368
17.5	Second-Mover Advantages	372
17.6	Conclusion	374
17.7	Bibliography	375
18	Pricing	379
18.1	Product and Pricing Policy	379
18.2	Forms of Price Differentiation	382
18.3	Conclusion	418
18.4	Bibliography	420

19	Managing Compatibility and Standardization	427
19.1	Compatibility Standards and Standardization	427
19.2	Relevance of Standards	428
19.3	Forms of Standards	429
19.4	Determining Factors of Standardization	430
19.5	Standards on Information Markets	433
19.6	Effects of Compatibility Standards	435
19.7	Upwards and Downwards Compatibility	436
19.8	Strategies of Standardization	437
19.9	Options of Proactive Behavior	440
19.10	Options of Passive Behavior	443
19.11	Opening a Standard as Trade-Off Issue	444
19.12	Conclusion	447
19.13	Bibliography	448
20	Complement Management	451
20.1	Kinds of Complementary Relationships	451
20.2	Starting Points for Creating Indirect Network Effects	453
20.3	Strategic Variants of the Complement Range	455
20.4	Conclusion	457
20.5	Bibliography	457
21	Copy Protection Management	459
21.1	Development of Copyright for Information Goods	459
21.2	Digital Rights Management Systems (DRMS)	460
21.3	Advantages and Disadvantages of DRMS	464
21.4	Copy Protection and Network Effects	468
21.5	Media Asset Value Maps	473
21.6	Conclusion	475
21.7	Bibliography	475
22	Signaling	479
22.1	Market Failure Due to Information Asymmetries	479
22.2	Market Communication via Signals	479
22.3	Approaches to Reducing Product-Related Quality Insecurities	482
22.4	Signals in Strategic Market Communication	497
22.5	Conclusion	508
22.6	Bibliography	509
23	Lock-In Management	515
23.1	Switching Costs and Lock-In	515
23.2	Switching Costs in Information Good Economy	517
23.3	From Accidental Lock-In to Planned Lock-In	518

23.4	The Lock-In Cycle	519
23.5	Conclusion	531
23.6	Bibliography	532

Part E

The "Illegal" Information Market: Piracy 535

24	Possible Causes of Piracy	537
24.1	Piracy of Information Goods	537
24.2	Consumer Characteristics	539
24.3	Sense of Justice and Prices	540
24.4	Morals and Social Norms	542
24.5	Designing Products and Services	544
24.6	Conclusion	545
24.7	Bibliography	545

25	Economic Consequences of Piracy	549
25.1	Object of Consideration	549
25.2	Consequences of Piracy from a Welfare-Theoretical Perspective	549
25.3	Consequences of Piracy from Dynamic Points of View	553
25.4	Conclusion	559
25.5	Bibliography	560

26	Strategic Starting Points for Dealing with Piracy	563
26.1	Strategic Action in View of Piracy	563
26.2	Measures Against Illegal Offers	564
26.3	Improving Legal Offers	568
26.4	Developing New Business Models	571
26.5	Conclusion	573
26.6	Bibliography	574

Glossary	577
-----------------	------------

Index of Names	591
-----------------------	------------

Subject Index	609
----------------------	------------