

117 093 388 2

WORLD BANK STUDY

Development as Leadership-led Change

A Report for the Global Leadership Initiative

*Matt Andrews
Jesse McConnell
Alison Wescott*

THE WORLD BANK
Washington, D.C.

Contents

Foreword	v
Acknowledgments	vi
About the Authors	vii
1. Introduction	1
2. Development as Change	4
Context and the Importance of Change Space	4
Process and the Case for Dynamic Change Space.....	7
Content, the Possibilities of Problems, and Contingency of Change Space.....	9
3. Leadership and Change: Theory and Propositions	13
Who is the Leader, and Why?	13
What Do Leaders Do, and How?	16
Context and Leadership.....	21
4. Examining Our Propositions: A Method	24
Research Approach and Data Sources	24
Ensuring the Cases Matched Our Expectations.....	27
5. Examining Leadership-led Change Propositions: Results and Discussion	33
Leadership's 'Who' and 'Why'	33
The Multiplicity of Leadership	33
The Functionality of Leadership.....	39
Centrality of the 'Connecting Function'	41
Leadership's 'What' and 'How'	42
What and How Leadership Impacts on Acceptance.....	44
What and How Leadership Impacts on Authority.....	49
What and How Leadership Impacts on Ability.....	53
Conclusions on Leadership's 'What' and 'How'	55
Leadership and Context.....	57
6. Conclusions, and a Case for More Leadership Work in Development	61
Appendixes	63
Appendix 1. Five Stages in the Change Process: A Simple Model.....	64
Appendix 2. 'Who' Were Identified as Leaders (number of references in parentheses)	66
References	68

Tables

Table 4.1. Cases Selected for Inclusion in the Analysis	25
Table 4.2. Interviewee Data and Concerns about Bias.....	26