

Global Resources

Opposing Viewpoints®

David L. Bender, Publisher

Bruno Leone, Executive Editor

Brenda Stalcup, Managing Editor

Scott Barbour, Senior Editor

Charles P. Cozic, Book Editor

Greenhaven Press, Inc., San Diego, California

CONTENTS

Why Consider Opposing Viewpoints?	9
Introduction	12
Chapter 1: Are Global Resources Being Depleted?
Chapter Preface	16
1. Global Oil Reserves Are Being Exhausted L.F. Ivanhoe	17
2. Global Oil Reserves Are Not Being Exhausted Part I: American Petroleum Institute, Part II: John L. Kennedy	25
3. Food Supplies Are Becoming Scarcer Lester R. Brown	32
4. Food Supplies Are Not Becoming Scarcer Dennis T. Avery	39
5. Rain Forest Destruction Has Reached Crisis Proportions Arthur Golden and Matt Miller	47
6. The Extent of Rain Forest Destruction Has Been Exaggerated Michael Sanera and Jane S. Shaw	54
Periodical Bibliography	61
Chapter 2: What Agricultural Policies Should Be Pursued?
Chapter Preface	63
1. Organic Farming Offers Many Benefits Gary Gardner	64
2. Organic Farming Is Unsuccessful Dennis T. Avery	69
3. Livestock Agriculture Should Be Abolished Richard Schwartz	75
4. Livestock Agriculture Does Not Harm the Environment National Cattlemen's Beef Association	79

5. Genetically Engineered Foods Should Be Produced Susanne L. Huttner	84
6. Genetically Engineered Foods Are Dangerous John B. Fagan	90
Periodical Bibliography	97

Chapter 3: What Energy Sources Should Be Pursued?

Chapter Preface	99
1. The Use of Solar Power Should Be Increased Gerd Eisenbeiss	100
2. The Use of Wind Power Should Be Increased Christopher Flavin	108
3. The Use of Nuclear Power Should Be Increased Bertram Wolfe	115
4. Electric Vehicles Are an Efficient Alternative to Gas Cars Ed Begley Jr., interviewed by Dick Russell	123
5. Bicycles Are an Efficient Alternative to Automobiles Rémi Tremblay	128
6. Oil Is an Efficient Energy Source Lee R. Raymond	136
Periodical Bibliography	145

Chapter 4: How Can Global Resources Be Protected?

Chapter Preface	147
1. Economic Growth Can Protect Global Resources Earnie Deavenport	148
2. Economic Growth Cannot Protect Global Resources Jerry Mander	155
3. Companies Are Increasingly Protecting Global Resources Sue Hall	163

4. Companies Are Failing to Protect Global Resources Leonore Carpenter	171
Periodical Bibliography	177
For Further Discussion	178
Organizations to Contact	180
Bibliography of Books	184
Index	186