

Strategies for Managing Computer Software Upgrades

Neal G. Shaw
University of Texas-Arlington, USA

2

SUB Göttingen 7
213 798 263

2001 B 1693

IDEA GROUP PUBLISHING
Hershey • London • Melbourne • Singapore

Strategies for Managing Computer Software Upgrades

Table of Contents

Preface	i
Chapter I
Introduction	1
Neal G. Shaw, University of Texas-Arlington, USA
PART I: THE SOFTWARE UPGRADE PHENOMENON	3
Chapter 2
What's New? The Challenges of Emerging Information Technologies	11
Albert L. Lederer, University of Kentucky, USA
John Benamati, Miami University (Ohio), USA
Chapter 3
Five Small Secrets to Systems Success	14
Larry R. Coe, University of Illinois, USA
Chapter 4
Trends in Information Technology in Small Businesses	28
Georgios I. Doukidis, Athens University of Economics and Business, Greece
Steve Smithson, London School of Economics, UK
Takis Lybareas, Warwick Business School, UK
Chapter 5
Armadillo Power & Light: A Software Evaluation and Selection Case Study	44
Louis A. LeBlanc, University of Arkansas at Little Rock, USA
Chapter 6
Key Issues in the MIS Implementation Process:
An Update Using End User Computing Satisfaction	55
Peggy L. Lane, Indiana University/Purdue University at Fort Wayne, USA
Jeffrey Palko, Northwestern State University of Louisiana, USA
Timothy P. Cronan, University of Arkansas, USA

PART II: CURRENT TRENDS IN SOFTWARE UPGRADES..... 68

Chapter 7

Our Mousetrap's Fine: So Why Aren't People Beating a Path to Our Door? 78

George E.M. Ditsa and R.C. MacGregor

University of Wollongong, Australia

Chapter 8

An Attributional Analysis of the Rejection of Information Technology 95

John W. Henry, Georgia Southern University, USA

Mark J. Martinko, Florida State University, USA

Chapter 9

The Relationship of Some Personal and Situational Factors to

IS Effectiveness: Empirical Evidence from Egypt..... 117

Omar E.M. Khalil, University of Massachusetts, USA

Manal M. Elkordy, Alexandria University, Egypt

Chapter 10

Tailoring Software Development Processes Along TQM Concepts:

A Way to Narrow User-Perceived Expectations Gap for

Information Systems 136

George E.M. Ditsa, University of Wollongong, Australia

PART III: NEW STRATEGIES AND SOLUTIONS 147

Chapter 11

Rethinking End-User Training Strategy:

Applying a Hierarchical Knowledge-Level Model 153

Maung K. Sein, Agder College, Norway

Robert P. Bostrom, University of Georgia, USA

Lorne Olfman, Claremont Graduate University, USA

Chapter 12

A Model of the Motivation for IT Retraining 165

Sherry D. Ryan, University of North Texas, USA

Chapter 13

Systems Analysts' Attitudes Toward Information

Systems Development..... 179

James J. Jiang, Louisiana Tech University, USA

Gary Klein, University of Texas of the Permian Basin, USA

Joseph L. Balloun, Nova Southeastern University, USA

Chapter 14
Utilization and User Satisfaction in End-User Computing:
A Task Contingent Model 189
Changki Kim, Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology, Korea
Kunsoo Suh, Soonchunhyang University, Korea
Jinjoo Lee, Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology, Korea

Chapter 15
Understanding the End User: The Key to Managing End-User Computing 210
Donald L. Amoroso, University of Colorado, USA

Chapter 16
Incremental Cross-Generation Versioning in Decomposable Internet Software
Products: Opportunities for Knowledge Mangement in ISD 220
Amrit Tiwana, Georgia State University, USA

About the Authors 243

Index 248