

Deconstruction is/in America

A New Sense of the Political

Edited by Anselm Haverkamp

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY PRESS

New York and London

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Contributors	ix
Introduction
Deconstruction is/as Neopragmatism? Preliminary Remarks on Deconstruction in America Anselm Haverkamp	1
Keynote
The Time is Out of Joint Jacques Derrida	14
I. The Time of Analysis
1. Deconstruction and the Lyric Jonathan Culler	41
2. Reading Epitaphs Cynthia Chase	52
3. Upping the Ante: Deconstruction as Parodic Practice Samuel Weber	60
II. The Point of Teaching
4. The Disputed Ground: Deconstruction and Literary Studies J. Hillis Miller	79
5. Une drôle de classe de philo Michel Beaujour	87

vi Contents

6. Going Public: The University in Deconstruction Peggy Kamuf	95
III. The Politics of Singularity
7. Possibilizations, in the Singular Rodolphe Gasché	115
8. Writing Resistances Elisabeth Weber	125
9. Presentness and the "Being-Only-Once" of Architecture Peter Eisenman	134
IV. The Performance of Difference
10. Burning Acts: Injurious Speech Judith Butler	149
11. Republic, Rhetoric, and Sexual Difference Barbara Vinken	181
12. The Test Drive Avital Ronell	200
V. A New Sense of the Political
13. Ghost Writing Derek Attridge	223
14. The Form of Politics Perry Meisel	228
15. At the Planchette of Deconstruction is/in America Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak	237
16. Jaded in America David Wills	250