

GERMANY'S INFORMAL EMPIRE
IN EAST-CENTRAL EUROPE

GERMAN ECONOMIC POLICY
TOWARD YUGOSLAVIA AND RUMANIA,
1933 – 1939

BY
WILLIAM S. GRENZEBACH, JR.

FRANZ STEINER VERLAG WIESBADEN GMBH
STUTT GART 1988

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	1
PART ONE: BETWEEN WARS: GERMANY AND EAST-CENTRAL EUROPE
Chapter I German Expansionism and the Political Structure of East-Central Europe Between the Wars	3
1. Collapse of the Multinational Empires: the New Political Order	3
2. German Revisionism 1919 – 29	4
3. The Little Entente	7
4. The Balkan Entente	9
5. A Balance Sheet of Political Barriers to German Expansionism	10
6. The Foreign Policy of the Brüning Government	12
– The Austro-German Custom Union Project	12
– The Preferential Treaties with Hungary and Rumania	14
– Brüning's Foreign Policy in Historical Perspective	18
– Hitler and East Central Europe	18
PART TWO: GERMANY'S EXPORT OFFENSIVE
Chapter II The Impact of the Great Depression	23
1. Economic Disaster and Political Detente with Yugoslavia	23
2. From Trade War to Economic Rapprochement 1933 – 34	26
Chapter III The German-Yugoslav Commercial Treaty of April 1934	33
1. German Policy	33
2. Treaty Negotiations at Belgrade	36
3. The Commercial Treaty of May 1, 1934	40
Chapter IV The German Export Offensive in Yugoslavia	47
1. 1934 – The Crisis Summer and the Difficulties of Agricultural Purchase ..	47
2. The Problem of Yugoslav Export Surplus	50
3. Discrimination and the Promotion of German Exports	52
4. The Protocol of March 1935	54
5. Problems in German Export Promotion	56
6. The Protocol of March 1936	60
7. Schacht's Visit to Belgrade, June 1936	62
8. The Protocol of October 1936, Dresden	64
9. Conclusion: Causes of the Yugoslav Rapprochement with Germany	68
Chapter V The German Export Offensive in Rumania, 1935 – 37	69
1. Negotiation of the Commercial Treaty of 1935	69
2. The Payments Agreement of September 1935	79
3. German-Rumanian Commercial Relations, 1936 – 37	81

X	PART III: THE INFORMAL EMPIRE'S STRUGGLE FOR RAW MATERIALS
	Chapter VI The Four Year Plan	96
	1. The New Plan	96
	2. The Foreign Exchange Crisis and the Food Question	98
	3. The Petroleum Question	100
	4. The Rohstoff- und Devisenstab	100
	5. Hitler's Memorandum	102
	6. Schacht, Hitler, and the Origins of Großraumwirtschaft	104
	7. The Four Year Plan and Foreign Trade, 1936 – 39	108
	8. The Decision-Making Process in Foreign Economic Policy	111
	9. A Foreign Economic Policy for a Blitzkrieg Strategy	114
	Chapter VII The Four Year Plan and German Business in Yugoslavia: Competition and Conflict Within the "Informal Empire", 1937 – 38	131
	1. Introduction	131
	2. Neuhausen versus Max Hahn and the Mitteleuropäischer Wirtschaftstag	132
	3. Max Hahn, the MWT, and the Struggle for Raw Materials Independence	136
	4. Armaments	139
	5. The Dubrovnik Protocol October, 1937	140
	Chapter VIII Yugoslavia, Armaments, and World War	145
	1. Introduction	145
	2. German Armaments Sales in 1938	145
	3. The 200-Million-Mark-Credit: The Yugoslav Initiative	149
	4. Prince Paul's State Visit to Berlin	154
	5. Oil Concession: Key to the Cologne Armaments Protocol	156
	6. Oil and the Armaments Credit	160
	7. Trade Negotiations at Cologne: June, 1939	161
	8. The Armaments Protocol: June – July, 1939	162
	9. Arms and World War: The German Breakthrough in the Yugoslav Raw Materials Sector, July – October, 1939	165
Y	Chapter IX Trade Relations after the Grain Crisis	173
	1. The Rimma-Ferrostaal Credit	173
	2. The First Armaments Order from Rumania	177
	3. The Protocol of December, 1937	179
X	Chapter X Armaments and World War	190
	1. The Ambiguity of Germany Policy: The Antitank Cannon Transaction December 1938 – July 1939	190
	2. The Aeronautical Protocol of July 8, 1939 – The Rumanian Initiative	193
	3. The Crisis of German Petroleum Supply	194
	4. Implementation of the Protocol: July – September 1939	201
	5. Rumanian Oil and the German War Machine	206
U.U X	Chapter XI German Exploitation of Danubian Europe: A Tentative Balance Sheet	209
	1. The Singer-Prebisch Controversy and the Problem of Measuring "Terms of Trade"	209

2. The Classical Critique of the German Trade Drive: An Evaluation	213
– Contraction of Large-Scale Indebtedness	215
– German Dumping	215
– Export of Secondhand Armaments and Unwanted Merchandise	216 ³
– The Long-Term Credit Trick	216
– Bettering Germany's Terms of Trade	217
3. The German Trade Drive: A Reappraisal	218
– Contraction of Large-Scale Indebtedness	218
– German Dumping	219
– Export of Unwanted Merchandise and Secondhand Armaments	220
– The Long-Term Credit Trick	220
– Terms of Trade	221
4. Political and Economic Aspects of German Expansionism Toward South-Eastern Europe	235
Key to Abbreviations	242
Bibliography	244