

Joseph T. Fuhrmann

The Origins of Capitalism in Russia

*Industry and Progress in the
Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries*

Chicago: Quadrangle Books, 1972

Contents

Acknowledgments vii

List of Bibliographical Abbreviations ix

Introduction 3

1. The Town Life, Artisanry, and Commerce of Early Modern Russia 12
2. First Steps Toward Industrial Modernization, 1470's-1590's 36
3. Andrei Vinius and the Beginnings of Iron Manufacturing 51
4. The Downfall of Andrei Vinius 80
5. Surging Ahead: Russian Iron Manufacturing, 1648-1662 91
6. Crisis in the Affairs of Peter Marselis 99
7. Iron Manufacturing in the Far Northwest 116

8. Expansion and Russification, 1675-1690's	129
9. Other Russian Manufactures of the Seventeenth Century	141
10. The Russian State's Industrial Policy	172
11. Activities of the Foreigner in Early Modern Russia	193
12. Status and Influence of the Foreigner in Early Modern Russia	218
13. Manufacturing in Early Modern Russia: Some Generalizations and Conclusions	243
Appendix I. The Russian Ruble from the Sixteenth to the Eighteenth Century	269
Appendix II. Some Russian Weights and Measures of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries	271
Appendix III. Russian Manufactories During the Six- teenth and Seventeenth Centuries	273
Notes	277
Glossary	331
A Note on Sources	343
Selected Bibliography	353
Index	365