

Labour and Employment in the USSR

EDITED BY

DAVID LANE

*Professor of Sociology
University of Birmingham*

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY PRESS
WASHINGTON SQUARE, NEW YORK

Contents

Preface	vii
1. Marxist-Leninism: An Ideology for Full Employment in Socialist States? David Lane	1
PART I: THE HISTORICAL BACKGROUND
2. The Ending of Mass Unemployment in the USSR R. W. Davies	19
3. A Note on the Sources of Unemployment Statistics R. W. Davies and S. G. Wheatcroft	36
4. The Development of Soviet Employment and Labour Policy, 1930–41 John Barber	50
PART II: THE ECONOMICS OF FULL EMPLOYMENT
5. Lessons of Soviet Planning of Full Employment Mark Harrison	69
6. The Serendipitous Soviet Achievement of Full Employment: Labour Shortage and Labour Hoarding in the Soviet Economy Philip Hanson	83
7. Systemic Aspects of Employment and Investment in Soviet-Type Economies D. M. Nuti	112
8. Heterogeneity of the Soviet Labour Market as a Limit to a more Efficient Utilisation of Manpower Silvana Malle	122

PART III: SOCIO-ECONOMIC PROBLEMS

- | | | |
|-----|---|-----|
| 9. | Geographical Mobility – Its Implications for Employment
Ann Helgeson | 145 |
| 10. | Shortage of Labour and Motivation Problems of Soviet Workers
Anna-Jutta Pietsch | 176 |
| 11. | Productivity Campaigns in Soviet Industry
Peter Rutland | 191 |
| 12. | Transition from School to Work: Satisfying Pupils’
Aspirations and the Needs of the Economy
Sheila Marnie | 209 |
| 13. | Underemployment and Potential Unemployment of the Technical Intelligentsia: Distortions Between Education and Occupation
Eduard Gloeckner | 223 |

PART IV: LABOUR AND THE LAW

- | | | |
|-----|---|-----|
| 14. | The USSR Law on the Work Collectives: Workers’
Control or Workers Controlled?
Elizabeth Teague | 239 |
| 15. | Job Security and the Law in the USSR
Nick Lampert | 256 |
| | Index | 278 |