
Federalism and Nationalism

The Struggle for
Republican Rights in the USSR

Gregory Gleason

with a Foreword by John N. Hazard

Westview Press
BOULDER, SAN FRANCISCO, & LONDON

Contents

Foreword, John N. Hazard	vii
An Explanatory Note	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii
Map: Union Republics of the USSR	xiv
1 A Question of Federalism	1
Federalism and Nationalism, 2
Republican Rights and Perestroika, 5
Nationalism and Socialism, 11
Unity and Diversity in the Soviet Multinational State, 14
Notes, 16
2 A Federal Solution to the National Problem	19
The National Problem in 1917, 20
The Marxist Premises, 22
Lenin's Theory of Nationality, 26
The Federal Solution and Leninist Nationality Policy, 31
Notes, 36
3 The Evolution of the Soviet Federal System	41
The Extension of Soviet Power to the Borderlands, 42
The Soviet Constitutions and Federalism, 45
The Stalin Revolution and Party Supremacy, 49
The Federal Structure and the Central Economic Ministries, 54
Notes, 57
4 Administering Soviet Federalism: Criticism and Reform	61
Dual Subordination, 62

Defederalization and Sovnarkhoz, 65
The "Combined Branch-Territorial" Principle, 68
Brezhnev and Zastoi , 74
Notes, 76
5 Bureaucratic Nationalism	81
The Status of Republican Rights, 82
National Institutions, 86
The National Cadres and a "National Climate," 99
Notes, 101
6 Nationalism Resurgent	105
Central Asia, 107
The Caucasus, 112
The Baltic Republics, 115
The Constitutional Crisis, 121
Notes, 124
7 Epilogue	129
Notes, 135
Appendix	137
Table 1 Population and territory of the USSR and the national republics, January 1989, 139
Table 2 Rate of growth of population by republic, 1913–1989, 139
Table 3 First secretaries of the republican party organizations, November 1988, 140
Table 4 Chairmen of the Presidia of the Councils of Ministers of the republics, November 1988, 140
Table 5 Proportion of urban population by republic, 1913–1989, 141
Table 6 Average annual number of industrial and service workers by republic, 1940–1985, 141
Table 7 Labor force and administrative cadres by republic, 1960–1984, 142
Table 8 Scientific cadres in the USSR and union republics, 1985, 143
Select Bibliography	145
Index	161

