

PAUL KOLSTOE

Russians in the Former Soviet Republics

WITH A CONTRIBUTION BY ANDREI EDEMSKY

HURST & COMPANY, LONDON

CONTENTS

Preface page ix

Chapters

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1. Introduction: 'The Empire has collapsed – who lies under the debris?' | 1 |
| The concept of a Russian diaspora | 1 |
| Scope and purpose of the book | 5 |
| Centrality of the Russian diaspora problem in post-Soviet politics | 6 |

Part I

- | | |
|--|----|
| 2. Growth of the Russian diaspora, 1500–1917 | 13 |
| Export of population surplus | 17 |
| State expansion | 18 |
| Migration restrictions and migration encouragement | 24 |
| Banishment | 30 |
| Russian spirituality | 33 |
| 3. Modernisation or grand design? Russian migration, 1917–1989 | 41 |
| Accelerated Russian dispersion | 41 |
| – The causes of the Russian dispersion | 51 |
| – Russian contraction | 63 |
| Theories of contraction | 67 |
| 4. Russians in the Union Republics: dominant nation or underprivileged minority? | 71 |
| The period of korenizatsiia | 72 |
| The period of the 'Big Brother' | 81 |
| The period of 'Mature Socialism' | 91 |

Part II

5. The state of statelessness: the Baltics	105
Dashed expectations	105
Peculiarities of the Baltic ethnic scene	108
Pre-independence politics in Estonia and Latvia	112
Post-independence politics in Estonia and Latvia	120
Russian attitudes after independence	127
Regional issues	133
Lithuania	138
6. Irredentism and separatism: Moldova	143
The treatment of national minorities in Moldova	144
The unification issue	154
Breaking away from Moldova	155
Attitudes and sentiments among Moldovan Russians	161
7. The eye of the whirlwind: Belarus and Ukraine	166
Belarus	166
Ukraine	170
- An East Slav cultural continuum	170
- The remarkable referendum	173
- Post-independence conflicts	179
- Ukrainisation	180
- Russian responses	186
- The Crimean knot	190
8. Fright and flight: former Soviet Asia	200
Armenia	201
Azerbaijan	204
Georgia	206
Tajikistan	209
Turkmenistan	215
Uzbekistan	218
- The language question	221
- Ethnic turmoil	223
9. The quest for Eurasia: Kyrgyzstan and Kazakhstan	230
Kyrgyzstan	232
- Ethnic tensions at the popular level	234
- Constitutional and other legal issues	236

- The language question	239
- Organising the Russians for a fight or for flight?	242
Kazakhstan	244
- The language question	246
- A Kazakhstani state ideology	248
- Cultural organisations and political parties	251
- Real or apparent stability?	255

Part III

10. Russia's policy towards the diaspora (by Andrei Edemsky and Paul Kolstoe)	259
Terminology	259
Before the break-up of the Union	263
After the break-up of the Union	265
Key decision-makers	268
Institutional actors	273
- The military	273
- The parliament	274
- The Ministry of Foreign Affairs	275
Political parties and public organisations	276
Some hot spots and turning-points	280
- Crimea	281
- Dniestria	281
- Citizenship in Estonia and Latvia	283
11. Addressing the diaspora problem: the way ahead	290
Genocide and ethnocide	290
Return-migration	293
Border revisions	300
Minority protection	306
Select Bibliography	317
Index	331