

Shared History – Divided Memory. Jews and Others in Soviet-Occupied Poland, 1939–1941

Elazar Barkan, Elizabeth A. Cole, Kai Struve
(Editors)

LEIPZIGER UNIVERSITÄTSVERLAG GMBH
2007

CONTENT

Dan Diner
Preface .....	9
Elazar Barkan, Elizabeth A. Cole, Kai Struve
Introduction .....	13

Memory and Historiography

Kai Struve
Eastern Experience and Western Memory – 1939–1941 as a Paradigm of European Memory Conflicts .....	43
Joanna B. Michlic
Anti-Polish and Pro-Soviet? 1939–1941 and the Stereotyping of the Jew in Polish Historiography .....	67
Wilfried Jilge
Competing Victimhoods – Post-Soviet Ukrainian Narratives on World War II .....	103

Soviet Rule

Marek Wierzbicki
Western Belarus in September 1939: Revisiting Polish-Jewish Relations in the kresy .....	135
Rafał Wnuk
Resistance 1939–1941: The Polish Underground under Soviet Occupation and the Jews .....	147
Grzegorz Hryciuk
Victims 1939–1941: The Soviet Repressions in Eastern Poland .....	173

Evgenii S. Rozenblat

“Contact Zones” in Interethnic Relations –

The Case of Western Belarus, 1939–1941 . . . . . 201

Alexander Brakel

Was there a “Jewish Collaboration” under Soviet Occupation?

A Case Study from the Baranowicze Region . . . . . 225

Christoph Mick

“Only the Jews do not waver ...” –

Lviv under Soviet Occupation . . . . . 245

Marco Carynnyk

The Palace on the Ikva –

Dubne, September 18th, 1939 and June 24th, 1941 . . . . . 263

Pogroms

Dieter Pohl

Anti-Jewish Pogroms in Western Ukraine –

A Research Agenda . . . . . 305

Andrzej Żbikowski

Pogroms in Northeastern Poland –

Spontaneous Reactions and German Instigations . . . . . 315

Christoph Dieckmann

Lithuania in Summer 1941 –

The German Invasion and the Kaunas Pogrom . . . . . 355

Contributors . . . . . 387