

Ágnes Hargita

Hungary's Way Back to Europe

On a Bumpy Road

Nomos

Content

Introduction	27
Part I: Preparation for the historical challenges of the future	39
Chapter I:
Professional experience before the great tasks emerge	41
1. In the Institute for Economic Sciences of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences	43
2. In the National Planning Office	54
Chapter II:
The policy of opening towards the Western world	79
1. The activity of the new unit is manifold	79
2. Hungary's gradual rapprochement to and membership in the international organisations: GATT, IMF, World Bank	81
Chapter III:
IMF course in Washington D. C.	93
1. Arrival in Washington – the beginning of the course	93
2. The aim of the course: to provide information on the IMF machinery	100
Chapter IV:
In the “country of silence” as a wife of a diplomat and as employee of the foreign trade representation	109
1. As a wife of the Ambassador in Helsinki – the tiny secrets of the “Finnish miracle”	109
2. The victors of defeats – rationality born by history	119
3. Increasing Hungarian interest for the methods of the “Finnish miracle”	122

4. Not even the Finnish method can counteract the increasing insolvency of the Soviet Union	128
5. Finland is preparing in a disciplined manner for the Single European Internal Market programme of the EEC – in Hungary this is not yet on the agenda	130

Part II: On the way back to Europe 139

Chapter V:

Changing the political regime and the first steps towards the European Union (1989-1990)	141
--	-----

1. Prelude to the political changes in Hungary seen through the eyes of an economist and a wife of a diplomat	141
2. Hungary's path to opening the Western border	151

Chapter VI:

My "change of regime". From the National Planning Office into the Ministry of Trade	157
---	-----

Chapter VII:

Relations between Hungary and the European Communities at the end of the 1980's	163
---	-----

1. The Hungarian-EEC Agreement of 1988	164
2. The Phare Programme	167
3. Changes in the international conditions	174
4. Changes in the office and outside the office	176

Chapter VIII:

Negotiations leading to the Association/Europe Agreement	179
1. Starting of the association negotiations	179
2. The substantial differences between the EC and the Hungarian positions at the start	183
3. The routine of the negotiations	187

Chapter IX:

The content of the Association/Europe Agreement 193

1. The main elements of the Association Agreement and of the supplementary protocols enlarging and deepening its content 193
2. The results of the Association Agreement in numbers 200

Chapter X:

The special measures related to free trade: rules of origin, rules of competition, safeguard clauses, and provisions concerning areas outside free trade 203

1. The preconditions of free trade 203
2. Provisions for areas outside free trade (the three further freedoms of the internal market, areas of cooperation, political dialogue, institutions of the association) 209

Chapter XI:

From initialling of the Agreement to its coming into force 213

1. "Small jobs" between closing the negotiations and the entering into force of the Agreement 213
2. Peculiar cases of asserting national interests 216

Chapter XII:

The importance of the Association Agreement. What was at stake at the negotiations? 223

Chapter XIII:

The reception of the Association/Europe Agreement in Hungary.
The first experience of implementing the provisions in Hungary. 233

1. The reception of the Agreement by the public 233
2. My experience regarding the reception of the Association Agreement 235
3. The "proof of the pudding is in the eating" 239

Chapter XIV:
The European Union and the Eastern enlargement	247
1. Development of the European integration in the years after the fall of Communism in Central and Eastern Europe	247
2. Dilemma of the EC: to grant or not to grant the perspective of membership to the Central and Eastern European countries	248
3. Opportunity for membership in principle is open, but when can it be used?	254
Chapter XV:
Hungary applies for membership	265
1. Antecedents and preparations	265
2. Submission of the application for membership to the EU	271
Chapter XVI:
The tribulations of the Association Agreement during the Horn Government	275
Chapter XVII:
The adjustment of the Association Agreement	285
Chapter XVIII:
Meeting democracy – my work with the Parliament	291
Chapter XIX:
Institutional changes during the Horn Government	295
Chapter XX:
The speed of the preparation for accession is accelerating	299
Chapter XXI:
Mutual interest is growing	303
Chapter XXII:
My tribulations	309

Part III: Hungary's accession negotiations with the European Union	313
Chapter XXIII:
Starting my work as a diplomat in the "capital" of the EU	315
Chapter XXIV:
The "Answers" given to the "Questionnaire" of the European Commission	321
1. My participation in answering the EU Questionnaire	321
2. The Opinion of the European Commission	327
3. The proposals of the Commission for the 2000-2006 financial perspective and for starting the accession negotiations	331
Chapter XXV:
My work at the Mission	337
1. The first years	337
2. Tasks of the Hungarian Secretary of the Association Committee	339
3. Rationality and politics may override the EU regulations	342
Chapter XXVI:
Hoping to start negotiations as soon as possible and eagerly preparing for it	347
1. Collecting practical experience and advice from the newly acceded countries	347
2. Preparatory work for elaboration of positions is speeding up	349
Chapter XXVII:
Starting of the accession negotiations	355
1. 31 March 1998 – The meeting of ministers opening the Intergovernmental Conferences on the accession of the six countries of the Luxembourg Group	355
2. The main elements of the positions of the European Union and of the Hungarian Government	360

3. Changes in the wake of the Hungarian elections in 1998. New tasks at the Mission and in the Secretariat for Integration after the beginning of the negotiations	365
5. The organisation of the accession negotiations	371
Chapter XXVIII: The content of the negotiations	375
Chapter XXIX: The preparatory phase of the negotiations – the screening of the Community acquis	381
1. The screening	381
2. The negotiating positions – the “position papers”	383
3. Workshop in the Mission	385
4. The role of the Hungarian press	388
Chapter XXX: The fora of common thinking	391
Chapter XXXI: Between hopes and doubts until reaching the goal	395
Chapter XXXII: Start of the real negotiations in autumn of 1998 – the first closed Negotiating Chapters	399
1. The negotiating rounds	399
2. In November 1998 the debut of a new EU “genre”: publication of the first Regular Report and the Summary Evaluation prepared by the European Commission	405
Chapter XXXIII: The momentum of the negotiations comes to a halt in 1999	411
1. Does the EU satisfy the criterion of its own preparedness?	411
2. Virtual moves without substantial results	421

Chapter XXXIV:
Negotiations in 2000 – a year full of patience and expectations	431
1. The EU environment of the negotiations	431
2. The Hungarian-EU ministerial meetings in 2000	437
3. The chapters closed in 2000	439
Chapter XXXV:
Reactions in Hungary	449
1. “Just look at Spain and Portugal!”	449
2. “There is life outside the EU too”	450
3. Doubts of the negotiators	452
4. Domestic preparation is going on unabated – the pre-accession funds of the EU are opening	453
Chapter XXXVI:
December 2000 – encouraging decisions in Nice	457
Chapter XXXVII:
The negotiations gather momentum	463
1. The first half of 2001 – the Swedish Presidency	463
2. The second half of 2001 – the Belgian Presidency	471
Chapter XXXVIII:
The chapters closed in 2001	481
1. Free movement of goods	481
2. Company law	483
3. Customs Union	486
4. Taxation	489
5. Freedom to provide services	493
6. Freedom of movement of persons (workers)	496
7. Free movement of capital	503
8. Environment	509
9. Justice and home affairs	512

10. Transport policy	515
11. Culture and audiovisual policy	516

Chapter XXXIX:

2002. Approaching the end of the accession negotiations – Parliamentary elections in Hungary.	519
1. Storm around the Beneš Decrees in February 2002	520
2. The first half of 2002: Parliamentary elections in Hungary	524

Chapter XL:

The last phase of the negotiations	531
1. For 2002 three tasks remained to be solved for the accession negotiations	531
2. The Hungarian aspects of the Spanish Presidency	540

Chapter XLI:

The second half of 2002 – The Danish Presidency – The very last phase of the negotiations	543
1. The first months of the Danish Presidency – waiting for the consensus of the Member States	543
2. The agreement of the “French-German tandem” finally breaks the deadlock	546
3. The “rocket” start of the Danish Presidency	548
4. The Hungarian-EU negotiations in those months	551
5. The commitment of the Danish Presidency and its reception by the Member States	554

Chapter XLII:

The Copenhagen Summit of the Heads of State and Government – 12-13 December 2002	557
1. The Summit and the preceeding negotiations	557
2. The summary of financial results of the accession negotiations	560

Chapter XLIII:

Some more words about the Danish Presidency and about the role of the small and medium-size Member States 565

1. The Danish Presidency's demand for a tough pace of work not only in Brussels but in Copenhagen too 565
2. The European Parliament in revolt 566
3. Not only the big Member States can promote the cause of integration in the European Union 568

Chapter XLIV:

Reception of closing the negotiations in Hungary 571

1. The first reactions 571
2. Other non-EU financial supports related to the EU membership 575

Chapter XLV:

The negotiating chapters closed in 2002 579

1. Culture and Audiovisual Policy 579
2. Regional policy 581
3. Agricultural Policy 590
4. Budgetary Policy, 598
5. Competition Policy, 601
6. Chapter on Institutions and the Chapter on Others 621

Chapter XLVI:

2003 – Drafting of the Accession Treaty 623

1. The first half of 2003 – The Greek Presidency 623
2. The adoption of the draft of the Accession Treaty and its assent by the EP 624

Chapter XLVII:

Signing of the Accession Treaty on 16 April 2003 633

1. Amendment of the Hungarian Constitution – referendum on accession in Hungary 633
2. The signing 634

Chapter XLVIII:
What has been undertaken – has to be fulfilled	639
Chapter XLIX:
New quality in the EU-Hungary relations: “observer status”	645
Chapter L:
The negotiating team is breaking up	653
Chapter LI:
The European Convention	655
Chapter LII:
Farewell to my Brussels, to my Belgium	663
1. Brussels – experiences gathered by walking around	664
2. A glimpse into Belgian history and Hungarian-Belgian relations	669
3. Popular saints in Belgium, including Elizabeth of Hungary	674
4. What do Belgians eat and drink?	675
5. My cultural interests	677
6. My favourite cities in Belgium and special events	678
Chapter LIII:
The “endgame”: the last months before Hungary’s accession to the EU	681
1. New institutions, new tasks, new environment	681
2. Last steps in the preparation for accession – selecting Hungarian representatives for EU institutions	685
3. Starting day of Hungary’s EU membership – 1 May 2004	692
4. Establishing the Treaty on a European Constitution	694

Part IV: Hungary's EU membership – from the accession to the “baptism of fire”	703
Chapter LIV:
The first period of Hungary's Union membership – as I saw it	705
1. The first years of membership: accomplishment of commitments and obligations undertaken by both parties	705
2. Hungary as a Member State of the Schengen Area	718
3. Hungary's reception in the Union	721
4. The secret(s) of Hungary's seamless integration	726
Chapter LV:
Hungary's integration in figures	729
1. Consolidated account of the EU support provided to Hungary during the first five years of its membership (2004-2009)	729
2. Increase in foreign trade and foreign capital inflow	733
3. Catching up with more developed Member States	734
4. Achieving the full freedom of movement of labour	735
Chapter LVI:
Where did Hungary fail, where did it not do everything it should have done? Are the EU and the global world economy to blame for anything?	741
1. Convergence programmes: EU pressure or help to restore economic equilibrium?	741
2. Reasons for concerns in Hungary's agriculture after accession – Could the EU be a part of the solution?	749
Chapter LVII:
Lessons learnt about a “Hungaricum” and a “quasi-Hungaricum”	757
1. Everybody can drink Tokaji, but who are allowed to produce it? – Tokaji wine is the favourite not only of the consumers, but that of the producers	757
2. Fight for GMO-free Hungarian maize production	761

Chapter LVIII:

The effect of Hungary's EU membership on relations with neighbouring countries and Hungarian minorities living in those countries	765
---	-----

Chapter LIX:

Three milestones in Hungary's "baptism of fire"	773
---	-----

1. The Treaty of Lisbon	774
2. Hungary as a full member in the establishment of the Financial Framework 2007-2013	785
3. Hungary's first EU Presidency: For a strong Europe, unified in diversity ^{676, 677} – The first half of 2011	791

Annexes	811
---------	-----

Biography of the Author	811
-------------------------	-----

List of References	819
--------------------	-----

List of Names	827
---------------	-----