

Orna Kenan

Between Memory and History

The Evolution of Israeli Historiography of the Holocaust, 1945–1961

PETER LANG

New York • Washington, D.C./Baltimore • Bern
Frankfurt am Main • Berlin • Brussels • Vienna • Oxford

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Prefacexi
Introductionxiii

Part One: Different Perceptions of the Holocaust:
The Yishuv, the Survivors and the Jewish Fighters—during and following the War Years

Chapter One: In the Yishuv	5
Chapter Two: The Survivors and the Jewish Fighters in the DP Camps, 1945–1948	19

Part Two: Politics of Memory and Historiography

Chapter Three: The Israeli Representation of the Holocaust in the 1950s	43
Chapter Four: Israel's "Pantheon" and the "Silence" of the Survivors during the 1950s	63
Chapter Five: The Turning Point, 1961 to the Present	77
Notes	93
Bibliography	121
Index	137