

Constructing Lithuania

Ethnic Mapping in Tsarist Russia, ca. 1800-1914

Vytautas Petronis

Stockholm University

Contents

Acknowledgments.....	13
1. Introduction.....	15
1.1. Formulation of the research problem.....	18
1.2. Delimitations and terminology.....	21
1.3. Theoretical and methodological trajectories.....	23
1.3.1. Nationalism and territoriality.....	23
1.3.2. The development of theory and methodology in cartographical analysis.....	27
1.4. Sources and historiography.....	35
1.5. Main questions.....	39
2. Building the “Empire of Regions:” the Shifting Administrative Divisions of the Russian Empire.....	40
2.1. The first steps in organising the imperial space (beginning of the 18 th century to 1762).....	42
2.2. The territorial and ethnic fragmentation of the Russian Empire (second half of the 18 th century).....	50
2.2.1. The Provincial Reform (1775) and territorial expansion (1762-1796).....	50
2.2.2. The annexation of the Grand Duchy of Lithuania.....	58
2.3. The introduction of provinces with a special status (1796-1801).....	68
2.4. Planning the new “Empire of Regions” (1801-1825).....	74
2.4.1. Speranskii’s and Novosil’tsev’s projects – attempts to introduce federalism.....	78
2.4.2. The Decembrist plans to restructure the Russian Empire (1825).....	83
2.4.3. Political projects for the restoration of the Polish-Lithuanian Commonwealth (1806-1815).....	90
2.4.4. A plan to secure Polish identity and the Vil’na Educational District (1803-1831).....	94
2.5. Towards administrative centralisation and the uniformity of the state (1825-1855).....	100
2.5.1. The land surveying of the North Western provinces in the 1820s-1850s.....	104
3. The Ethnographical and Geographical Division of the Western Provinces.....	109
3.1. The rise of Russian science and the first ethnic investigations (18 th to the first half of the 19 th century).....	111
3.2. The IRGS – its establishment, structure and function.....	117

3.3. The IRGS and ethnographical investigations of the Western provinces (1850s – 1860s).....	122
3.3.1. Change of paradigms in Russian ethnography (1845-1848).....	122
3.3.2. Focusing on the Western region.....	125
3.3.3. The ethnographical-statistical expedition to the Western provinces (1862-1870s).....	128
3.4. The ethnic fragmentation of the Western provinces.....	138
3.4.1. The Ukrainians.....	139
3.4.2. The Lithuanians.....	145
3.4.3. The Belarusians.....	164
4. Presentations of the Lithuanians on the Ethnographical Maps of the Russian Empire (1840s – 1880s).....	174
4.1. The Lithuanians on the first ethno-linguistic map of the Slavs (1842).....	176
4.2. The first ethnographical map of European Russia (1851).....	184
4.3. Ethnic maps in the political arguments of the 1860s.....	194
4.4. Serving science and ideology – Rittikh’s “Ethnographical Map of European Russia” (1875).....	210
5. Constructing the Lithuanian National Territory (from the end of the 19th century to 1914).....	222
5.1. The beginning of a Lithuanian national geography (before 1905).....	224
5.1.1. The first Lithuanian geography textbooks.....	229
5.1.2. Maciejauskas’ map of the Lithuanian and Latvian country (1900).....	235
5.2. Political Interpretations of Lithuanian ethnic boundaries (1905-1906).....	238
5.2.1. Lithuanian geographical education (1905-1906).....	241
5.2.1.1. Maciejauskas’ “Basic Geography” (1905).....	244
5.2.1.2. Juškytė’s “Short Readings for Children” (1905).....	247
5.2.1.3. Mečius’ “A Short Description of the Earth” (1906).....	250
5.2.2. Constructing the Lithuanian version of Lithuania (1907-1914).....	253
5.2.2.1. Lithuanian claims for autonomy.....	253
5.2.2.2. The Lithuanian Scientific Society and geographical education (1907-1914).....	260
5.3. General Conclusions.....	270
6. General Conclusions.....	270
7. Bibliography.....	276
Archival Material.....	276
Published Sources and Periodical Publications.....	276
Maps and Atlases.....	278
Literature.....	278

Figures and tables

Figure 1. Changing Lithuanian ethnic borders during the period from the 1840s-1914.....	19
Figure 2. The administrative division of the Russian Empire 1720-1727.....	47
Figure 3. The new administrative-territorial division of the Russian Empire after the 1775 reform.....	56
Figure 4. The administrative division of the Grand Duchy of Lithuania in the mid-18 th century.....	61
Figure 5. The three partitions of the Polish-Lithuanian Commonwealth..	63
Figure 6. The Lithuanian province in 1800.....	72
Figure 7. The new Vil'na province boundaries in 1801.....	76
Figure 8. A map showing Pestel's division of European Russia.....	85
Figure 9. The administrative borders of Vil'na and Kovno provinces after the reforms of Nicholas I.....	101
Figure 10. The Western provinces (in the second half of the 19 th century).....	127
Figure 11. Dubenski's Lithuanian-Belarusian ethno-economical dividing line (1868).....	136
Figure 12. The Lithuanian ethno-linguistic border according to Kuznetsov (1872).....	155
Figure 13. Karskii's ethno-linguistic border between the Lithuanians, Latvians and Belarusians in Vil'na province and around Vil'na city.....	168
Figure 14. The Latvian and Lithuanian ethno-linguistic territories. Fragment from Šafařík's map in Slovanský národopis (1842).....	179
Figure 15. The Lithuanian ethno-linguistic territory around the city of Vil'na. Fragment from Koeppen's "Ethnographical Atlas of European Russia" (1848).....	189
Figure 16. The Lithuanian and Latvian ethnic territory. Fragment from Koeppen's "Ethnographical Map of European Russia" (1851)..	192
Figure 17. The Lithuanian inhabited territory in Rittikh's "Demographic Atlas of the Western-Russian Territory according to confessions" (1864).....	197
Figure 18. Differences in the ethnic composition in the North Western provinces in Erckert's ethnographic atlases (1863).....	201

Figure 19. The Latvian and Lithuanian inhabited territories. Fragment from Erckert's Atlas Ethnographique des provinces habitées en totalité ou en partie par des Polonais (1863).....	206
Figure 20. The Lithuanian territory in Suvalki province. Fragment from Galkin's "Ethnographical Map of the Kingdom of Poland" (1869).....	213
Figure 21. The ethnic territory of the Balts. Fragment from Mirkovich/Rittikh's "Ethnographical Map of Slavic Ethnicities" (1875).....	215
Figure 22. The Lithuanian ethnic territory on Rittikh's "Ethnographical Map of European Russia" (1875).....	217
Figure 23. Vileišis' "Lithuania Proper" (1898).....	233
Figure 24. Maciejauskas' "A Map of the Lithuanian-Latvian Country" (1900).....	236
Figure 25. Maciejauskas' "A Map of Lithuania" (1905).....	245
Figure 26. Juškytė's "A Map of the Lithuanian Language Territory" (1905).....	249
Figure 27. Smetona's "R. D'Erckert's Map of the Lithuanian Ethnography from the Year 1863" (1914).....	257
Figure 28. Matulionis' "A Map of Lithuania and its Peripheries According to the Newest Information from the Year 1906" (1906 (1909?)).....	261
Figure 29. Verbickis' "A Map of Lithuania with Ethnographic Boundaries" (1911).....	262
Figure 30. Gabrys-Paršaitis' map of Lithuania and Latvia (1910).....	267
Figure 31. The classification of ethnic maps according to either their scientific or political orientation	273
Table 1. Characteristic features of "scientifically" / "politically" oriented cartographic work.....	33