

Americanization of the European Economy

A compact survey of American economic influence in Europe since the 1880s

by

Harm G. Schröter

University of Bergen, Norway

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
List of abbreviations	xi
INTRODUCTION: AMERICANIZATION AS A COMPREHENSIVE CONCEPT OF ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT DURING THE 20TH CENTURY
A concept and its questions	1
Definitions of Americanization and research methods	3
Literature on Americanization	7
The roots of Americanization	8
Americanization and social science theory	11
Temporal swings in Americanization	13
PART 1: THE FIRST WAVE OF AMERICANIZATION, 1870-1945
CHAPTER 1: FORDISM AND TAYLORISM COME TO EUROPE	17
Standardization and interchangeable parts	18
American big business and industrial concentration	22
Rationalization and scientific management	24
Motion pictures and Americanization	29
1929: the collapse of American-style capitalism	33
Fascism and Americanization	34
The United States versus Europe to 1945: individual values and norms	35
The United States versus Europe to 1945: concepts of world economic order	37
Conclusion: adopting form, rejecting context	39
PART 2: THE SECOND WAVE OF AMERICANIZATION: THE GREAT POST-WAR BOOM, 1945-1975
CHAPTER 2: AMERICANIZATION AS A MISSION, 1945-1955	45
American international commitment after 1945	45
Rebuilding Europe: the Marshall Plan	47
American aid after the Marshall Plan: the productivity mission	50
Occupation politics: the US-zones in Germany and Austria	54
Conclusion: the limits of directed Americanization	58
CHAPTER 3: MASS PRODUCTION, MASS DISTRIBUTION, AND NEW TECHNOLOGY	61
Foreign direct investment and its effects	62
Decartelization	67
Mass production	71
Mass distribution	77
Development of self-service	79
Self-service on a large scale: the supermarket	83
Other distributional innovations: chains, franchise, and mail-order firms	86
New habits, new materials, new technologies	89

Conclusion: The emergence of a European mass market	93
CHAPTER 4: MANAGING FIRMS AND THEIR CONSUMERS	97
Education for business management	97
International re-organization of enterprise: marketing and divisionalization	105
Marketing research	111
Advertising	117
Conclusion: European enterprise reshaped	121
PART 3: AMERICANIZATION'S THIRD WAVE FROM THE 1980s
CHAPTER 5: ECONOMIC SLOWDOWN AND THE AMERICAN MODEL	127
Deregulation to increase competition	129
Privatization to promote growth	142
Technological change	153
Conclusion: a cure for Europe's economic ills?	159
CHAPTER 6: COMPANIES AND CONSUMERS	163
Changing patterns in financing enterprise: from bank credits to market capitalization	164
Re-defining shareholders: from the rich to the masses	173
Risk-taking as an economic virtue	181
The consumer as individual	184
Conclusion: the triumph of finances	190
CHAPTER 7: INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS AS A BARRIER TO AMERICANIZATION	193
Worker participation in Europe and the United States to 1945	194
Works councils and co-determination in Europe after 1945	196
Worker participation as management tool	200
Conclusion: a European bulwark against Americanization?	202
CONCLUSION	205
Waves of Americanization	206
The roots of Americanization revisited	208
The primacy of the economy	208
Competition as cure-all	211
Commercialization	214
Individualization	216
Choice versus ascription	217
The Americanization of the world?	218
Limits and barriers to Americanization	220
The lessons of history?	221
Notes	225
Literature	233
Index	251