

HIGHER EDUCATION AND GRADUATE EMPLOYMENT IN EUROPE

Results from Graduate Surveys from Twelve Countries

By

HARALD SCHOMBURG

International Centre for Higher Education Research Kassel, Germany

and

ULRICH TEICHLER

International Centre for Higher Education Research Kassel, Germany

ringer

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction	1
1 Developments, Prior Research and the Concepts of this Study	3
1.1 Debates and Research	3
1.2 The Concept of the Project	8
1.3 The Contents of this Volume	19
2 Methods Used	21
2.1 Overview	21
2.2 The Research Instrument	21
2.3 The Target Group of the Study	22
2.4 The Survey Process	23
2.5 Participation in the Graduate Survey	23
2.6 The Standard Questionnaire and National Variations	25
2.7 Data Analysis	26
2.8 The Interview Studies	26
2.9 Overall Project Coordination and Cooperation	26
2.10 Survey Eight Years After Graduation	28
3 The Educational Paths and Attainments	29
3.1 Introduction	29
3.2 Gender	29
3.3 Educational Attainment of the Parents	30
3.4 Foreigners	31
3.5 Years of Schooling	31
3.6 Kind of Secondary Education	31
3.7 Activities Before First Enrolment	32
3.8 Age at the Time of Enrolment in Higher Education	33
4 Course of Study	35
4.1 Type of Degree	35
4.2 Field of Study	36
4.3 Duration of Study	38
4.4 Age at the Time of Graduation	39
4.5 Graduation Quota	40
4.6 Study Conditions and Provision	40
4.7 Rating of Study Conditions and Study Provision	42
4.8 Study Activities	45
4.9 Activities Besides Study	45
4.10 Relationship between Work Experience and Content of Study	47
4.11 Foreign Language Proficiency and Computer Knowledge	48
4.12 Study Abroad	49
4.13 Summary	50

5	Job Search, Transition to Employment and Early Career	51
5.1	Job Search	51
5.2	Timing of Job Search	52
5.3	Length of Job Search	53
5.4	Number of Contacts with Employers	56
5.5	Methods of Job Search	58
5.6	Time between Graduation and First Employment	61
5.7	Conclusion	63
6	Early Career	65
6.1	Activities in the First 3 Vi Years After Graduation	65
6.2	Predominant Activities Since Graduation	76
6.3	Job Mobility	77
6.4	Transition to a Permanent Job?	78
6.5	Impact of First Job on Subsequent Employment	79
7	Employment Several Years After Graduation	81
7.1	Major Activity	81
7.2	Unemployment	81
7.3	Working Time	83
7.4	Temporary Contracts	84
7.5	Economic Sector of Employment	85
7.6	Public or Private Sector	88
7.7	Self-employment	89
7.8	Job Title	90
7.9	Income	91
8	Competences and Work Assignments	93
8.1	Recruitment Criteria	93
8.2	Competences at Time of Graduation	96
8.3	Work Requirements	97
8.4	Utility of Studies	102
8.5	International Competences	102
9	Match between Education and Employment	105
9.1	The Relevance of the Field of Study	105
9.2	Use of Knowledge and Skills	107
9.3	Appropriateness of Level of Education	107
9.4	Reasons for Inappropriate Position	108
9.5	Fulfilled Expectations	109
9.6	The Proportion of Graduates Facing Problems	1 10

10 Orientations and Job Satisfaction	113
10.1 Life Goals	113
10.2 Work Orientation	114
10.3 Professional Situation	117
10.4 Job Satisfaction	118
11 Career Relevant Aspects	119
11.1 Initial and Continuing Professional Education	119
11.2 International Mobility	125
11.3 The Family Situation	128
11.4 Regional Disparities	130
12 Major Findings and Policy Implications	133
12.1 Aims and Methods of the Study	133
12.2 Success in Transition, Employment and Work	135
12.3 Studies as Preparation for Subsequent Employment and Work	137
12.4 European and International Diversity and Disparity	139
12.5 Strength and Limits of the Study and Prospects	141
Literature	143
Questionnaire	151