

PRISON OF WOMEN

Testimonies of War and Resistance
in Spain, 1939–1975

TOMASA CUEVAS
//

Translated and Edited by MARY E. GILES

State University of New York
Press

C O N T E N T S

Introduction by Mary E. Giles	vii
PART 1 War and Prison
Chapter 1 Growing Up in Prewar Spain	3
Chapter 2 Coming of Age in Politics and War	11
Chapter 3 Prison Life Begins: Guadalajara 1939	25
Chapter 4 Sisters Condemned to Death: Blasa Rojo at Guadalajara	39
Chapter 5 Childbirth in Prison: Nieves Waldemer Santisteban at Guadalajara	45
Chapter 6 My Prison Odyssey: Durango 1939–1940	51
Chapter 7 The Dynamiter: Rosario Sánchez Mora at Durango	57
Chapter 8 Into the Storm: Santander 1940–1942	67
Chapter 9 A Minor in Prison: María del Carmen Cuesta at Santander	75
Chapter 10 The Cemetery of the Living: Amorebieta 1942–1943	85
Chapter 11 The Socialist: Pilar Pascual Martínez at Amorebieta	93
Chapter 12 Solidarity and Compassion: Ventas and Segovia 1943–1944	99

Chapter 13	Reflections on Prison Life for Women: Josefina Amalia Villa at Ventas and Segovia	109
Chapter 14	The Costs of Sacrifice: Antonia García at Ventas and Segovia	117
PART 2 Resistance and Prison
Chapter 15	A Stranger in a Strange City 1944–1945	141
Chapter 16	The Exile of Prison: Les Corts 1945–1946	151
Chapter 17	From Prison to Clandestine Life Again 1946	167
Chapter 18	Escape: Victoria Pujolar at Les Corts	173
Chapter 19	Through the Gate to Freedom: Adelaida Abarca at Les Corts	181
Chapter 20	Crossing the Border: Angelita Ramis at Les Corts	189
Chapter 21	The Guerrilla: Esperanza Martínez	197
Chapter 22	The Burden and Strength of Clandestinity 1946–1948	207
Chapter 23	The Long Years 1948–1976	219
	Afterword by Mary E. Giles	235
	Glossary	237
	Notes	243