

Regional Governance and Economic Development

Editor M Danson
assisted by M G Lloyd, S Hill

Contents

Regional autonomy and economic development: critical issues and challenges M W Danson, M G Lloyd	1
Section 1 Federalism and networking
Sustainability and spatial competence: an examination of the evolution, ephemeral nature, and possible future development of regional planning in Britain P Roberts	7
Regional-level jurisdictions and economic regeneration initiatives H W Armstrong	26
Federalism and the network paradigm: guidelines for a new approach in national regional policy R Cappellin	47
Regional governance and economic development: lessons from federal states K E Haynes, G C Maas, R R Stough, J D Riggle	68
How do city networks contribute to regional development? T W Eser	85
Section 2 Governance, institutions, and development
The economic powers and potential of a devolved Scottish Parliament: lessons from economic theory and European experience D Newlands	109
The costs and benefits of an Assembly for Wales J Bryan, S Hill	128
Inward investment, supplier networks, and regional growth S Hill, B Morgan	145
Cross-European perspectives on the use and control of financial incentives in foreign investment promotion P Raines, F Wishlade	155

Section 3 Fiscal and monetary regimes

Macroeconomic effects of regional tax differentials: a post-Keynesian analysis of the Tartan Tax A J Laramie, D Mair	173
Some simple macroeconomics of Scottish devolution P G McGregor, J Stevens, J K Swales, Y P Yin	187
Regional growth and convergence in a tax-sharing system K Kellermann, H Schmidt	210
Scottish devolution and the financial sector S C Dow	229
Index	242