

THE CAMBRIDGE ANCIENT HISTORY

SECOND EDITION

VOLUME VII

PART 2

The Rise of Rome to 220 B.C.

Edited by

F. W. WALBANK F.B.A.

Emeritus Professor, formerly Professor of Ancient History and Classical Archaeology, University of Liverpool

A. E. ASTIN

*Professor of Ancient History,
The Queen's University, Belfast*

M. W. FREDERIKSEN

R. M. OGILVIE

Assistant Editor

A. DRUMMOND

Lecturer in Classics, University of Nottingham

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

CONTENTS

	List of Tables	page xi
	List of Maps	xii
	List of Text-Figures	xiii
	Preface	xv
1	The sources for early Roman history	1
	by the late R. M. Ogilvie, formerly Professor of Humanity, University of St. Andrews
	and A. Drummond, Lecturer in Classics, University of Nottingham
	I The surviving evidence:
	(a) Literary sources	1
	(b) Antiquarian writers	9
	(c) Inscriptions	11
	(d) Archaeological and other evidence	15
	II The creation of early Roman history:
	(a) The available data	16
	(b) Techniques of reconstruction	24
	(c) Conclusion	28
2	Archaic Rome between Latium and Etruria	30
	by M. Torelli, Professor of Archaeology and the History of Greek and Roman Art, Faculty of Letters, University of Perugia
	I Introduction	30
	II Archaeology, urban development and social history	31
	III Sanctuaries and palaces	39
	IV Emporia and shrines at emporia	48
	V Conclusion	51
3	The origins of Rome	52
	by the late A. Momigliano, formerly Professor of Ancient History, University College London
	I The problems of context	52
	II The myths of foundation	56
	III Settlement, society and culture in Latium and at Rome	63

iv	The development and growth of Rome	82
v	The Roman kings	87
vi	The social, political and religious structures of the regal period	96
4	Rome in the fifth century I: the social and economic framework	113
	by A. Drummond
	I The Twelve Tables	113
	II Economy:
	(a) Agriculture	118
	(b) Market development and trade	124
	(c) Economic changes in the fifth century	130
	III Social structures:
	(a) Introduction	143
	(b) Family, agnates and clan	146
	(c) Kinsmen, friends and neighbours	154
	(d) Comrades and dependants	157
	(e) Social stratification	163
5	Rome in the fifth century II: the citizen community	172
	by A. Drummond
	I Political and constitutional developments:
	(a) The ancient account	172
	(b) The consular fasti and the date of the Republic	173
	(c) The patriciate and the senate	178
	(d) The consulship	186
	(e) The dictatorship	190
	(f) The consular tribunate	192
	(g) The quaestors, quaestores parricidii and duoviri (perduellionis)	195
	(h) The censorship	197
	(i) The assemblies	198
	(j) Conclusion	204
	II The plebeian movement:
	(a) Introduction	212
	(b) The First Secession and the plebeian officers	212
	(c) The Decemvirate, Second Secession and Twelve Tables	227
	(d) The character and objectives of the plebeian movement	235
6	Rome and Latium to 390 B.C.	243
	by T.J. Cornell, Senior Lecturer in History, University College London
	I The growth of Roman power under the kings	243
	II The fall of the monarchy and its consequences	257
	III The Latin League	264

iv	Rome and her allies in the fifth century	274
v	The incursions of the Sabines, Aequi and Volsci	281
vi	Veii and Rome's offensive	294
vii	The Gallic disaster	302
7	The recovery of Rome	309
	by T. J. Cornell
	i Rome's widening horizons	309
	ii Economic and social problems in the fourth century: poverty, land hunger and debt	323
	iii Constitutional reforms and the rise of the nobility	334
	Appendix. The chronology of the fourth century B.C.	347
8	The conquest of Italy	351
	by T. J. Cornell
	i Rome's first struggle with the Samnites, the defeat of the Latins and the formation of the Roman commonwealth	351
	ii The Second Samnite War	368
	iii The Roman conquest of Central Italy	372
	iv The Third Samnite War and the completion of the conquest of peninsular Italy	377
	v Rome in the age of the Italian wars:
	(a) Politics and government	391
	(b) Economic and cultural developments	403
9	Rome and Italy in the early third century	420
	by E. S. Staveley, formerly Reader in Ancient History, Bedford College, University of London i The Roman commonwealth	420
	ii The northern frontier: Rome and the Gauls	431
	iii The constitution: magistracy and assemblies	436
	iv Nobilitas and senate	443
	v Policies and personalities	447
10	Pyrrhus	456
	by P. R. Franke, Professor of Ancient History, University of the Saarland i The conflict between Rome and Tarentum	456
	ii Pyrrhus as king of the Molossians. His policy in Greece to 281 B.C.	458
	iii Pyrrhus in Tarentum. The battle of Heraclea 280 B.C.	462
	iv New negotiations with Rome. The battle at Ausculum 279 B.C.	469
	v Syracuse calls for help. The Romano-Punic treaty against Pyrrhus 279/8 B.C.	473
	vi Pyrrhus in Sicily	477

VII	Pyrrhus returns to Italy. The battle of Beneventum 275 B.C.	481
VIII	Return to Epirus. The death of Pyrrhus 272 B.C.	483
IX	Epilogue	484
11	Carthage and Rome by the late H. H. Scullard, formerly Professor Emeritus of Ancient History, University of London	486
	I Carthaginian public and private life:
	(a) The Carthaginian state	486
	(b) City and empire	499
	(c) Economic and social life	506
	II The Romano-Carthaginian treaties:
	(a) The early treaties	517
	(b) The first treaty	520
	(c) The second treaty	526
	(d) Later treaties	530
	III The First Punic War:
	(a) The Mamertines and war	537
	(b) War by land and sea	545
	(c) The invasion of Africa	554
	(d) Stalemate and checkmate	557
	(e) Revolt in Africa and Sardinia	566
	Postscript. The emergence of the provincial system	570
	by A. E. Astin, Professor of Ancient History, The Queen's University, Belfast
12	Religion in republican Rome	573
	by J. A. North, Senior Lecturer in History, University College London
	I Sources and methods	573
	II The priests and religious authority	582
	III The place of gods and goddesses in the life of Rome	590
	IV Religion and action	598
	v Adjusting to the new Republic	610
	VI Innovation and change	616
	Appendix	625
	by A. Drummond
	I Early Roman chronology	625
	II The consular fasti : 509-220 B.C.	627
	Chronological table	645

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Abbreviations	page 673
A General	678
B Sources and evidence	683
a. Literary and documentary sources	683
b. Epigraphic and numismatic evidence. The development of Roman coinage	691
c. Archaeological evidence	694
C Geography	700
D The chronology of early Rome. The fasti consulares	701
E The 'foundation' of Rome	702
a. The foundation legends	702
b. The origins and development of the city	705
F The monarchy, the establishment of the Republic and the later aspirants to kingship	708
G Early Rome	711
a. Social, economic and cultural development	711
b. Law	718
c. Religion	725
d. Political and military institutions	733
H Early republican Rome: internal politics	742
a. Patriciate and plebs. The 'Struggle of the Orders' to the Lex Hortensia	742
b. Aristocratic politics in the fourth and third centuries	747
I Latium, the Latins and Rome	748
J Rome: external relations to 264 B.C.	751
a. The peoples and cultures of pre-Roman Italy	751
b. Roman expansion in Italy	757
c. Pyrrhus	761
K Rome and Carthage	763
a. Carthage: history, institutions and culture	763
b. The early Romano-Carthaginian treaties	768
c. The First Punic War	770
Index	772